

Dana Zurbuchen and Jimmy Brown

When it came to their wedding, Dana Zurbuchen and Jimmy Brown wanted to celebrate in a way that was just...them. After a proposal in La Jolla, Calif., the couple held a ceremony on Oct. 1, at the State Capitol before celebrating with not one, but two fun-filled receptions. The first was an intimate dinner at Fresco following their ceremony, while a casual party followed a day later for friends and family at Gray's Tied House in Verona. Dana is the daughter of Nan and Bob Zurbuchen, and Jimmy is the son of Alice and John Brown. The couple resides in Verona.

Photographed by Laura Zastrow Photography

Bridgette Mehl and Casey Willauer

When Bridgette Mehl and Casey Willauer planned their big day, they made sure to let their playful personalities shine through. The fun-loving pair tied the knot in an outdoor ceremony on July 10, then hosted family and friends at a reception featuring a Camp Randall-inspired cake, a photo booth and a candy buffet. Bridgette is the daughter of Mary and Lou Mehl, and Casey is the son of Mary and Warren Willauer. The pair resides in Madison.

Photographed by Captured Moments Photo and Video

Kimberly Burbank and Scott Lee

It was the stuff straight out of a classic romance story, but Kimberly Burbank still couldn't have been more surprised when Scott Lee got down on bended knee and pulled out a ring during a beachside stroll in Door County. The high-school sweethearts married on July 24, and held a barn-style reception on the Lee Farm in Barneveld. Kimberly is the daughter of Cheryl and Rick Burbank, and Scott is the son of Shelly and Dave Lee. The pair lives in Mount Horeb.

Photographed by Happy Times Photography

Darci Foseid and David Johnson

Darci Foseid and David Johnson were on vacation in Florida when David suggested they watch a sunset at Bonita Bay Beach. Darci soon realized David had bigger plans when she found a message, laid out with sticks on the sand: "Will You Marry Me?" The two wed in Madison on June 12. Darci is the daughter of Marla and Jim Foseid, and David is the son of Anita and David Johnson. The couple lives in Middleton.

Photographed by Focus Photography